Dear Praying Friends,

Definitely, the highlight of the past couple months was the wedding of our youngest daughter, Julia, to Isaiah Lockwood. What a blessing to see these two young people who both grew up as children on the mission field (one in Africa and the other in Mexico), give their lives to serve together in the country of Greenland! After their honeymoon, they jumped right into deputation and have already been on the road for a couple weeks. Please be in prayer for them as travel and present their burden for this spiritually dark country.

I just returned from Africa a few days ago. One part of my trip was to the country of Tanzania where we had to update all of our mission paperwork with the government. When people think of missionary work, they often do not realize the vast amount of detailed administration that must be done in order for the missionary to live and work on that field. One of the services that BIMI does for their missionaries is to establish a legal framework within each country so missionary personnel are recognized by the local government and can be approved to work in that country past a typical tourist visa timeline. Without establishing such a legal entity, often a missionary cannot open a bank account, purchase a vehicle, lease a building, or obtain property. This registration further helps to give credibility to the individual missionary by showing the government that they have a long-term commitment. Praise the Lord, the trip was successful, and we are ready to move forward!

Speaking of moving forward, the picture I sent back in May of a building the village chief gave to our national pastor in Kenya to start a church has been repaired and is already full to overflowing! Converts are being baptized, and God's work is continuing to grow! Of course, this is impossible without God's blessing and your prayers!

Until all nations hear,

Eric Bohman
