Dear Praying Friends,

Thank you for praying for the requests shared in our last letter. Our family camp was well attended. It was a very enjoyable time, and I believe all were encouraged. The only disappointment was that I had to leave early due to an emergency medical procedure. I had been experiencing pressure in my chest for some time and had an angiogram performed. While at camp, I received a call that I had two blockages in the same artery – one 90% and the other 60%. The doctor highly recommended an immediate stent procedure. My wife and I left a day early to get the procedure done. Praise God that everything turned out well, and I feel much better. We took some time away from the ministry following the family camp, and it was a good time of refreshment. It was such a blessing to have our people filling in while we were away. It was good to miss them and good to be missed.

Please be praying for three of our young people who are absent right now. Our son Joseph is in Bible College, one of our young men is working abroad, and another young lady is studying overseas. Please pray they stay focused and that God brings them back in a good spiritual state. We would also ask prayer for one of our families struggling with discouragement. They have gone through some difficult times with one of their children and are blame-shifting, which is not bearing good fruit.

My mechanic friend continues to study material that I provide him. Please pray for his spiritual growth. Our prayer is that he would attend here with his family, as he believes what we teach. His beliefs are causing others to oppose him in the church he attends. We have numerous friends in the area who appreciate the work being done in this ministry. In the last while, several non-attenders have offered words of encouragement, and some have expressed interest in visiting. Our desire is to be a blessing where we can.

Nearly 50,000 people attended a three-day festival held in the area last week. The annual event is growing in popularity amongst Mennonites and Mexican nationals alike. We asked vendors whether we could leave gospel tracts on their tables, and many agreed. We don't know how many tracts went out, but we are praying God will bless and give fruit.

We thank God for late summer rains that have been very helpful for the grazing land and crops. Tragically, an area about three hours north of us was hit very hard with large hail and flooding. Several Mennonite colonies experienced great loss – in some cases, total loss. My heart goes out to them, and my prayer is that through this many might turn to God.

Our family is well. Life is busy right now with school, music lessons, work, and ministry. Thank you so much for your part in all that happens here. God bless you all!

In Christ,

Will Klassen
